Key points:
This paper provides Trust Board with an update on System Partnership activities and Area Leadership based ways of working building on updates provided in previous Chief Executive Reports to Trust Board. The Trust Board have previously described the System Partnership Directors role and area leadership based ways of working as ‘a tool of the board’ to ensure we become a good system partner and fulfil our ‘duty to collaborate’. The highlight report format has been adopted and gives a summary and flavour of the key highlights, low lights and current issues being addressed across all areas and specific insight into some of the individual areas, for reference and information. System Partnership Directors continue to make progress with building and developing the relationships at System and at Place in each ICS footprint, and continue to be welcomed by all system partners. Positive feedback has been received from senior colleagues in systems of the value they have found from this approach, the role and contributions being made. The paper recognises, that whilst progress is being made and that this approach is still early in it's development journey, further organisational development work is required internally to further implement, embed and adapt to area ways of working within YAS. The content of the paper provides a mix of strategic partnership developments, depicting the range, breadth and depth of initiatives and engagement, alongside some of the more operational area highlights, lowlights and issues. The Trust Board is asked to note: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• the content of the paper</li> <li>• the value that system partners have recognised of this way of working</li> <li>• the progress that is being made to embed YAS into system collaborations, relationships and initiatives and area leadership ways of working at YAS.</li> </ul>	Information
